DESCRIPTION:

You've got a lot of technical data and a message to convey to a diverse audience. You've got a PowerPoint presentation and 30 minutes to get your point across and earn their approval. Learn the basics of a winning delivery: clarity, accuracy, and brevity. Nancie Fernandez has over 30 years of experience, delivering sales and work product presentations to high tech and healthcare clients.

BIO:

Nancie Fernandez is a Principal in Deloitte Consulting LLP's Human Capital practice. Nancie has spent the last 25+ years helping clients address the challenges of large-scale transformational change. Her expertise includes addressing the people-related and HR issues of global system implementations, mergers and divestitures, and business transformations.

Nancie is the leader of Deloitte Consulting's Women's Initiative for our Media, Telecommunications and Technology industry practice. In this role she focuses on delivering programs to attract, develop and retain women through networking, coaching, mentoring, sponsoring, professional development and connecting with our community.

She has two small children and is successfully performing her roles within Deloitte while having a "dialed-down" Mass Career Customization (MCC) profile.
